

SOMETHING BLUE

The sparkling cerulean sea and a sunny, cloudless sky form the naturally spectacular backdrop to a seaside celebration.

PHOTOGRAPHY: JOSH ELLIOTT PHOTOGRAPHY

Cottage garden flowers in blue and peach complement a rustic farm table.

“With so many iterations, from sapphire to robin’s egg to deepest cobalt, it’s no surprise so many couples choose blue for their wedding palette.”
—Lindsay Longacre, LVL Weddings & Events

1. A menu in crisp blue and white sits atop layered dishes flanked by rose-gold flatware. 2. A tiered, patterned fondant cake by Great Dane Bakery. 3. The pretty centerpieces were arranged in multiples for a lush look; they’re composed of a merry mix of florals—lavender, ranunculus, thistle and garden roses—displayed in vintage glassware. 4. The hand-painted, confetti-dot glasses made festive guest favors. Cheers!

1.

2.

3.

5.

1. A classic California sunset casts the table in a rose-gold glow. 2. The bride's wildly romantic "something blue" bouquet by Enchanted Florist. 3. Marinated duck made for bite-sized deliciousness during the cocktail hour. 4. Palette-worthy peach-infused signature cocktails with blueberry notes. 5. The chic invitation suite by Posh Paperie.

Event planning and design: Lindsay Longacre, LVL Weddings & Events. Production: Inspired by This. Venue: Montage Laguna Beach, Laguna Beach, CA. Floral design: Enchanted Florist. Rentals: Archive Rentals. Cake: Great Dane Bakery. Favors: Me Ku Designs. Food and drink: Modern Art Catering.

4.

“We took our design in an unexpected direction: Rather than go with a beachy or nautical approach, we went romantic and garden-y, with soft peach and rose-gold accents.”
—Lindsay Longacre